Cricket Bats and bat accessories (updated 10.6.09)

Newbery Uzi (Kashmir willow) junior cricket bat

This is a Kashmir willow version of the UZI adult cricket bat, and even though the design is still pretty new, it's already making a name for itself in terms of popularity. It's a proper shaped cricket bat, with a properly sprung cricket bat handle, a decent sweet spot, and even though everyone we sell is weighed, they never feel as heavy as they actually are – and that's one of the tests of a cricket bat being well made. Please do not be fooled by the price when comparing this with other equally inexpensive bats..... this IS a proper junior cricket bat – it is NOT what Jon affectionately refers to as “a plank of wood with a handle on it” (which is how he has described some bats that we don't sell!)

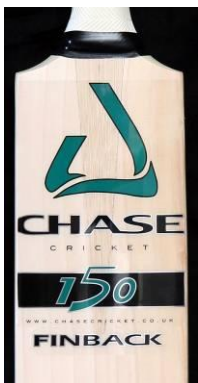

Included in the price, this bat comes pre oiled, pre knocked in, and it has a hammer edge sheet & a toe guard fitted as standard – all of which assist you in caring for & extending the bat's life. A PERFECT CHOICE for many junior cricketers.

We keep this bat in stock in seven sizes, all year round!

**BRAND NEW FOR 2009****

Chase 150 Finback (Partially Teflon coated) junior cricket bat

New for 2009, this really is something to talk about!

This 150 “PTC” bat is made from ENGLISH WILLOW, by an English Bat manufacturer – yet it sells at prices which you will hardly believe.

The way that Chase can keep the price of this bat low is by using English willow which has MINOR blemishes in it. However, those blemishes are hidden away under a very thin (almost invisible) Teflon coating which has been applied to the back of the bat and the sides. The net result gives you an English willow bat, which plays like an English willow bat (i.e. really well) at fraction of the price you might otherwise pay.

As an added bonus, the Teflon coating prevents moisture getting into the back and sides of the bat – so that helps to significantly prolong the bats life & durability.

(Think of a “Teflon frying pan” & yes, it's the same idea in terms of its non-stick approach to moisture. But please don't panic..... these bats have a Teflon coating which is the colour of a cricket bat – not the colour of a frying pan!...if you look really closely at the enlarged photo of the back of the bat above you can see the colour of the Teflon coating, but you have got to look really hard to see how little that colour differs to the colour of the willow on the front of the bat!)

Because the face of the bat is NOT Teflon coated, that should be looked after like any other English willow cricket bat face – e.g. with linseed oil & if desired an anti scuff face sheet can be fitted.

This is a clever concept which needs to be seen to be appreciated!

Available with a GREEN bat grip (not white as pictured)

Chase 150 Finback adult cricket bat

The 150 is hand selected from unbleached, naturally seasoned Grade 1 English willow with minor blemishes.

The 150 is a bat far better than its price will make you think. We sell them at this price, because we want people to be able to afford a decent Chase cricket bat. Even though this is the 3rd bat in the Chase range, it is still a really good quality product.

You need to pick this bat up to see how good they are for the money they cost. That's why we now keep them in stock all year round!

Has a high spine and edges with slight bow, with handle set slightly forward. Scooped flanks to retain maximum size but with feather pick up. Traditional oval handle provides balance and power. Angled toe to stop feathering from tapping down. Chrome printed labels.

Newbery Mjolnir (5 Star) cricket bat

This is a lovely English willow bat which has a lovely classical shape, with weight evenly distributed to ensure superb feel and pick up.

Huge profile in the hitting area ensures a serious performance based product, which also has a subtle bowed shape for additional power. Oval handle.
Available with a yellow grip (adult sizes) or red grip (junior sizes)

All junior size Mjolnir bats are pre-knocked in.

In addition to keeping these in stock in junior sizes, we also keep 2 of these in stock in adult sizes all year round (normally about 2lb 7oz / 2lb 8oz, making them really perfect choices for players who are buying their first adult bats who do not want - and cannot play with heavier cricket bats.)

Newbery Samurai (5 Star) cricket bat

This English Willow cricket bat is PERFECT for the type of cricket pitches that we have in Cumbria – i.e. where the ball tends not to bounce overly high.

Big edges with a large profile positioned lower than standard gives superb performance on slow low pitches, and for those who play with a strong bottom hand. Bowed blade for improved feel and performance. Oval handle.

We keep 2 of these in stock all year round – one of those is normally about 2lb 12oz, the other is normally much lighter at about 2lb 8oz. (Yes I somehow have perfected the knack of persuading Newbery to let me obtain some of the lightest Samurai's that they make because we know that our customers love them!)

Chase 167 Finback cricket bat

Premium quality cricket bat, made from hand selected unbleached, naturally seasoned Grade 1 English willow. Pre knocked in. Like the Chase 175, the good responsive middle on this bat allows players to gain value for their shots.

This is an extremely popular and good value cricket bat, and one that any player should be very proud to own & use. Amongst the number we've sold, we've had one customer buying their 2nd 167 (in different sizes) and we've also had one family buying 2 separate 167's for different family members! (And we reckon that both those stories speak volumes about Chase 167 bats & how popular they are!)

Has a high spine and edges with slight bow, with handle set slightly forward. Scooped flanks to retain maximum size but with feather pick up. Traditional oval handle provides balance and power. Angled toe to stop feathering from tapping down.

Chrome printed labels.

Chase 175 Finback cricket bat

Fantastic quality bat made from hand selected premium quality, unbleached, naturally seasoned Grade 1 English willow. Pre knocked in.

This is our favourite cricket bat – by a mile!

(And in case you don't know, Jon uses a Chase 175 bat himself – which ought to tell you a fair amount about what “the boss” really thinks about these bats!)

Made by someone we know & trust - to perform, and give every player a bat that really does help them to maximise on their scoring opportunities.

(Parents of Junior players who have bought 175's have told us that they think these bats really do help the ball to go further when they hit it.....and we think that's probably true, because the better quality “middle” in these bats will have that effect.)

This is Chase's FLAGSHIP BAT. Has a high spine and edges with slight bow, with handle set slightly forward. Scooped flanks to retain maximum size but with feather pick up. Traditional oval handle provides balance and power. Angled toe to stop feathering from tapping down. Chrome printed labels.

Newbery Grizzly Pink (5 Star) LIMITED EDITION cricket bat, and

Newbery Grizzly Blue (5 Star) LIMITED EDITION cricket bat

Named after the GRIZZLY BEAR, (and with grizzly bear claw stickers on the back of the bat), these GRIZZLY bats have been brought out by Newbery as a limited edition, and we sold our first Grizzly within 2 days of it arriving here, so we're not the only ones who liked them as soon as we saw them!

Thick edges and a massive profile, positioned slightly higher than standard resulting in a remarkable pick up. (In other words, this bat feels terrific to hold & swish about.)

Bowed blade for improved feel and performance. Oval handle with a pink or blue grip.

Hammer edged as standard (oiled, pre knocked in, toe guarded and hammer edge sheet fitted)

Cricket Bat accessories

Bat grips

Replacement bat grips, available in 2 types:

Octopus texture bat grip in bright pink - Our price: £2.50

Plain bat grip in 4 colours - bright red, royal blue, yellow, bottle green - Our price: £2.00

Original design Bat mallet

Original design of bat mallet.

Made entirely from wood – which means that it doesn't dent your bat with ball seam marks, which a "ball on a stick" type mallet can sometimes do.

Our price: £5.00

Toe Protector DIY Kit

If you'd like your bat to have a toe guard, then this is a DIY kit might be just what you need.

The kit includes 2 toe guards, adhesive and a decent set of instructions that even I have managed to follow with success.....so..... if I can do it, then please believe me, so can you!

(Sometimes available in bright colours. Always kept in stock in neutral "willow" colour – please ask for details.)

Our price: £5.00

Bat repair tape

All bats will crack over time as part of normal wear & tear.

A roll of this fibreglass (webbed texture) bat repair tape in the pocket on your kit-bag can however save the day & hold small cracks in place before matters get worse.

It can often be worth taping the vulnerable edges of bats to give them added protection, and if your bat gets a crack which is going "across" the bat (rather than up & down it) then those too are worth taping to prevent a "chunk" of wood falling out – which is what will eventually happen if you do nothing!

Our price: £2.50

Bat mallet and Gripping Cone in one

Brand new for 2009 and ingenious – Newbery have made a bat mallet which doubles up as a gripping cone!

Just twist off the head of the mallet, and you then have a gripping cone right there. It's the simple ideas that are always the best!

Our price: £6.00

Linseed oil

Pure linseed oil available in 2 bottle sizes:

- Chase – small bottle (20ml) - Our price: £3.00
- Newbery – larger bottle - Our price: £3.50

Once a year EVERY cricket bat should be given some "TLC" – part of which is to give it a very light coating of linseed oil. This is what you need for that annual job. (Your bat really will thank you for it!)
