Equipment Price List Cricket helmets - (published 27.1.09)

A note from Jon about Cricket helmets:

From what we've seen, junior players often think that the most essential item of kit to own is a cricket bat - so that's often what they want to purchase first when they start to buy their own kit. My view as a cricket coach does however differ to theirs, because I believe that a cricket helmet, an abdo guard (for boys) and a thigh guard are more important purchases because they're designed to help players to be safe.

Masuri Junior helmet with stainless steel grill

In Jon's opinion, this is the best junior cricket helmet on the market, and we've seen a few!

Moulded cloth covered fibreglass shell, available in Navy only.

540mm - 570mm head measurement with unique internal adjustable Velcro fitting. This helps to make sure that the helmet fits your head properly when you buy it – and it helps the helmet to adapt to your head size as it grows!

Suitable for most junior cricketers, unless they've got very large heads!

We keep this item in stock all year round in Navy.

Recommended retail price £32.00 Our price: £27.00

Masuri Adult helmet with stainless steel grill – Available in “Adult Standard” and “Adult Large” size

Moulded cloth covered fibreglass shell makes this a very strong helmet. The fabric cover on this helmet is woven (as opposed to being knitted) so this makes the fabric very durable.

If you watch closely, in most Test matches you'll see at least one of these Masuri helmets being worn!

Adult Standard - 580mm - 610mm head measurement with unique internal adjustable Velcro fitting. (This can be particularly useful if this helmet is being bought for a junior player who has outgrown junior sized helmets.)

Adult Large - 600mm - 630mm head measurement with unique internal adjustable Velcro fitting.

We keep both sizes of this product in stock all year round in Navy.

Recommended retail price £64.00 Our price: £52.00

Masuri Grade 5 Titanium grill

Experienced cricketers continue to marvel at just how light this grill is when they pick it up. Needs to be handled to be fully appreciated.

The titanium is classified as “Grade 5” - which we are told is Aircraft grade titanium. The purpose of us telling you that is so you know just what kind of strength this grill is going to have!

A variety of holes & slots (as shown in the picture) means that this grill will fit most adult helmets. If you bring your helmet to us, we will check whether this grill fits a helmet you already own.

This Titanium grill is extraordinarily lightweight. It tips the scales at around 4.75ounces (whereas a stainless steel grill weighs in at around 10ounces.)...so yes, you are halving the weight of the grill...which makes a big difference to the overall weight on your head if you bat or keep wicket for a long while.

Please note: this product is the Titanium grill only - no helmet is included. If you wish to purchase a helmet and a Titanium grill together, please see the next item on this price list.

Recommended retail price £70.00 Our price: £49.00

Masuri Adult helmet with Grade 5 Titanium grill – Available in “Adult Standard” and “Adult Large” size

This helmet with its Titanium Grill is used by many international cricketers around the world. Features an exceptionally lightweight grilldesigned for those who bat a long while – and for those who hope to!

Adult Standard - 580mm - 610mm head measurement with unique internal adjustable Velcro fitting.

Adult Large - 600mm - 630mm head measurement with unique internal adjustable Velcro fitting.

We keep both sizes of this product in stock all year round in Navy.

Recommended retail price £116.00 Our price: £86.00
